ABOUT THE PROPERTY

This cemetery dates back to the 1860's when the town of Purissima (for purissima, Spanish for "purest") was situated here, complete with a post office, a one-story hotel, dance hall, schoolhouse, livery stable, saloon, and several stores. A lumber mill supported the redwood logging operation in the Santa Cruz mountains. In 1868, John Purcell deeded some of his property to the town for burial space, prompting formation of the Purissima Cemetery Association who oversaw free burials to residents. 58 pioneers were buried there, mostly children. The village was one of the earliest settlements in the San Mateo Coast, but it was plagued with floods, crop failures, and difficulty maintaining a thriving village due to its remote location when other towns were in close enough range, resulting in the abandonment of the village before WWII.

In 2017, Ed Bixby purchased the abandoned cemetery with plans to clean up the old gravesites and create green burial space.

UNIQUENESS OF THE PROPERTY

Experience the serenity that Purissima Cemetery has to offer with massive cedar, pine trees, and running alongside the Purissima Creek that provides sweeping views of the Pacific Ocean, the cemetery now offers natural burial and is open to all. Perfect for those that want to become one with the Earth, a final resting place that personifies your life. It is Natural Burial at its best, allowing your body and soul to entwine with all the beauty that Mother Nature has to offer.
